

STATHow a wildlife biologist became a plague-chaser in the American SouthwestSTAT“He is very famous,” said Gerardo Suzán, a professor at the National Autonomous University of Mexico, who has done research on plague. “His work is very important to track the disease in history.” Scientists who study potential bioweapons find ...

Leer más: “National Autonomous University of Mexico”: Google Noticias