

The Yucatan Times Researchers discover Chichén Itzá passageway that could lead to cenote The Yucatan Times... sinkhole (cenote) found beneath the Kukulcán Temple, a never-seen-before area which so far is only known through the electrical resistivity tomography made known by researchers of the National Autonomous University of Mexico (UNAM) two years ago.

Leer más: "National Autonomous University of Mexico";: Google Noticias